He grabbed her arm. "My grandson, let me go!" she said, "the other medicine is to live again." So he touched her with the stick.

Wakogi pes I sto. Mi tagose u stan a yea. Oma pe zuda Zhe ti aka. Wakogipes, Wagonga Casa gana pezuda Iyapa.

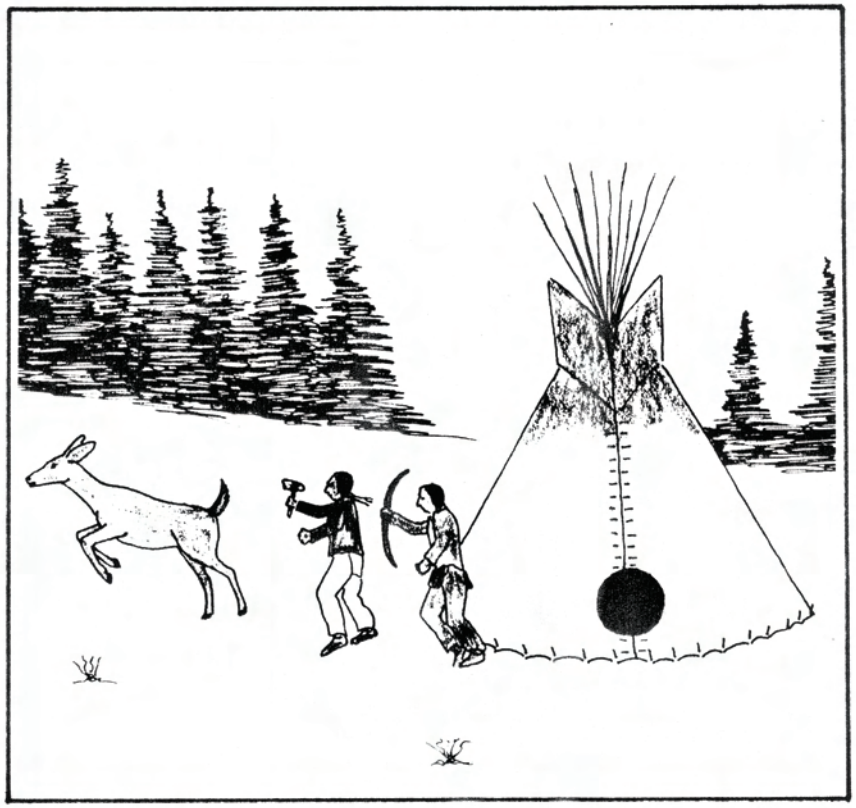
VANISHING BRAVES

The Indian Camp was near the forest. A deer came out and stood. The braves would chase it in the forest.

Nakota Eti Ca Wash ma. Ta X deja waz taga na zee. Nakota wakogi pes kuwa ca wash ona Zhen.

She opened one medicine bag. She picked up a stick and touched her medicine. She went over to touch the brave.

Pezuda Wozuha waja uspa. Ca Sa gana a yea goo pezudo I yapa. Wakogi pes Iyapa.



It would get dark. The Braves would not return. The Chief's son was worried. He said, "I will go see." He went into the forest and he built a fire.

Zhe Ca hon hay be. Wa kogipes Knish. Huga Zhe Miciksi. Zhe ja ayea, "a wa kitdinkda." Ca wash na eyea peda gaxigcuni.

My grandson, the sparks are falling on your robe. You will be burned. He did not move.

Mi tagosa ne Intgu peda ta tago ha Intgu. Wakogi pes scha scha.

An old lady came, sat down and warmed up.
The Brave lay down
pretending to sleep.
He watched her through a hole in his robe.
