

Chapter 12

Montana's Response to Global Conflict

(16:39 time)

Synopsis

This 17-minute video details the life of Jeannette Rankin as a Montana stateswoman. The video notes Rankin's early influences, her work as a suffragist, and her election to the United States Congress in 1916 and again in 1940. Rankin knowingly compromised her political career to uphold her convictions to maintain peace by being the only American congressperson to vote against both world wars. Her legacy towards working for peace continued through the Vietnam era until her death at age 92.

► The video begins with students giving their best answer to the following focus question: “Who was Jeannette Rankin?” Teachers may wish to ask their students the same question before viewing the episode.

The narrator answers the focus question:

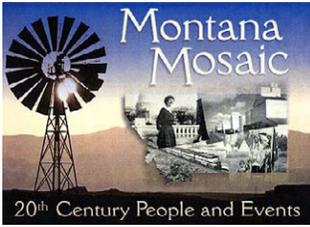

“Montanans are tied subtly and deeply to the nation and the world. Federal politics have affected the daily lives of Native Americans, students needing loans, senior citizens seeking medical prescriptions, and ranchers leasing lands. International markets affect everything from crop selection to beef production to timber prices in Montana. Montanans have defended their country in global crises from the Spanish-American War to the conflict in Iraq. We fight for what we believe in. Look, for instance, at Montana's Jeannette Rankin, the first woman elected to the U.S. Congress. An acknowledged pacifist, Ms. Rankin voted against U.S. involvement in both World War I and World War II. Her stand incurred the wrath of millions of Americans—including many, but not all, Montanans. Jeannette Rankin reflects our toughness, our courage, and our integrity. She is especially a Montana story.”

Post-viewing Discussion Questions

Engage students' critical thinking skills and elicit their emotional responses with the following four questions, most easily remembered through the acronym DICE: What disturbed you? What interested you? What confused you? What enlightened you?

Getting at the Meaning Questions

1. At the beginning of the video, the narrator suggests that Jeanette Rankin's career is an example of the way federal policies and international politics affect Montana. How else have federal decisions impacted Montana?
2. What factors contributed to Montana enacting women's suffrage (1914) before the rest of the nation (1920)?
3. After she voted against war, some people called Jeannette Rankin unpatriotic. Can someone oppose war and still be a patriot? Why or why not?
4. What connections, if any, do you see between Rankin's feminism, her status as the first woman elected to the U.S. Congress, and her pacifism?
5. Even as the first woman elected to Congress, do you think Rankin would have been as memorable if she had not voted against both world wars?

(Chapter 12, continued)

Additional Resources

For more information on topics addressed in this episode, see Montana: Stories of the Land Chapter 16, “Montana and World War I, 1914–1918,” (<http://mhs.mt.gov/education/textbook/Chapter16/Chapter16.asp>), and Montana: Stories of the Land Chapter 19, “World War II in Montana, 1939–1945” (<http://mhs.mt.gov/education/textbook/Chapter19/Chapter19.asp>).

Content Standards

This chapter of Montana Mosaic aligns to the Montana Social Studies Content Standards as follows: 2.1, 2.3, 2.6, 4.2, 4.4, 4.6, 6.1, 6.3, 6.6