ASL-English Interpretation BA program receives CCIE accreditation

We are proud to announce that the UNC ASL-English Interpretation program is the 13th program to be accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Interpreter Education (CCIE). In round figures there are about 150 interpreter education programs across the nation and approximately 80% are 2-year degree programs. There are nine

What our Students Say

"I wanted to take a moment and say a big "Thank You" to everyone

BA programs accredited at this time out of about three-dozen baccalaureate programs in the US - and the UNC ASLEI program is the only distance-delivered program on that list!

The program accreditation is listed on the CCIE website if you want to check it out:

Welcome to the start of the 2012-2013 academic year! This is the time of year when things settle back into routines after a wonderful, but hectic, summer. As you see the school buses rumble by, have you thought about looking for a way to continue your own professional development? We all get restless for opportunities to grow, not just because our field requires evidence of lifelong learning, but also for our own personal satisfaction. Maybe now is the time for your next academic adventure!

ASL 1-4 Coursework

at the UNC DO IT Center for the great level of training that I received through the ASL-English interpretation program. [In February], I received NIC Master certification! I truly believe that this is a reflection on the ASLEI program and the top notch instructions that each and everyone one of you provided".
-Timothy Snider (PA)

"This has to be one of the most innovative and challenging interpreting programs in the nation. I have learned, worked, and laughed so much during my time with the DO IT Center, and along the way developed relationships that will last a lifetime".

- Bri Johnson (CA)

"The ASLEI program is a great learning experience. The teachers are very supportive and offers tons of information in relation to learning/practice and resources for interpreters in general that is beneficial for anyone in the field. The people, from classmates, faculty, and tech support are wonderful".

Beginning fall 2013 ASL 1-4 will be offered on the UNC Denver Center - Lowry campus. Details to come in future newsletters.
